ENLISTMENTS INTO REGULAR ARMY OPEN

Captain Stayton Assigned as Recruiting Officer

In accordance with recent instructions from Washington, Capt. C. A. Stayton has been assigned as officer in charge to establish a general recruiting office at this station to enlist for general assignment in the Regular Army such men as may apply and be found qualified.

Enlistments for all branches of the Regular Army will be resumed at once. Men who desire assignment in Motor Transport Corps, Tank Corps and Air Service will be enlisted for Infantry for assignment for the service desired and will be so assigned. The Commanding Officers of Camps, Posts and Stations at which men are enlisted may assign them to organizations at the Camps, Posts or Stations if such organizations is of the arm, staff, corps or department for which they are accepted, provided the authorized strength of the organization is not exceeded.

Men drafted or enlisted subsequent to April 1, 1917, will be discharged from the military service and enlisted in such arm, staff, corps or department as they may elect. Such men, however, may be retained on the duties in which they are engaged at the time of discharge until they can be spared or replaced.

Age limits for original enlistments will be eighteen to forty years inclusive except that enlistments in staff corps are authorized up to fifty-five years. No men will be enlisted or re-enlisted who due to dependents will be entitled to family allowance under the War Risk Insurance Act. This, however, will not apply to men now in the army who were enlisted prior to April 2nd, 1917.

The proportion of one and three year enlistments will be regulated from time to time by Washington. Until such time no restrictions on either class are imposed upon recruiting officers except no men shall be enlisted for one year who have not had previous military service. Special effort will be made to induce men to enlist for three years.

TO ABANDON SEVERAL U. S. ARMY HOSPITALS

With the abandonment of a number of army camps and the concentration of sick and wounded soldiers in city hospitals, the Surgeon General of the Army is taking steps to discontinue several camp hospitals. The base hospitals at Camp Cody, N. M.; MacArthur, Tex., and Hancock, Ga., and general hospitals No. 18 at Waynesville, N. C., and No. 23 at Hot Springs, N. C., are slated for abandonment at an early date.

In addition, it is also proposed to discontinue base hospitals at Camps Greene, N. C.; McClellan, Ala.; Sevier, S. C.; Wheeler, Ga., and general hospitals No. 15 at Corpus Christi, Tex.; No. 17 at Markleton, Pa.; No. 37 at Madison Barracks, N. Y., and Debskirk Hospital No. 52 at Richmond, Va. The capacity of the hospital at Camp Kearney, Cal., will be reduced to 500 beds.

The Surgeon General has recommended that General Hospital No. 38 at Fort Logan H. Root, Ark., be changed to a post hospital, and that post hospitals at Edgewood, Md., Arsenal, Eustis, and Humphreys, Va., be made camp hospitals. No more overseas patients will be sent to any of the above hospitals, except Camp Kearney. —"Over the Top," Camp Taylor.

SOLDIER CENSUS TO BEGIN MONDAY

Secretary Roy D. Schooley of the executive committee of the Mayor's committee of welcome for homecoming troops, announced yesterday that plans are about completed for taking the military census which starts Monday.

Every home in every section of the city will be canvassed. Every soldier's name will be listed, whether it be that of British, French, Pole or what not. If the names cannot be obtained at the first call, another will be made and so on until it is found whether or not a soldier resides there. Every soldier who fought with the Allies will have his name placed on the honor roll. Thousands of persons will assist in the canvass. Every draft board will throw open its records.

CAPT. JOHN R. HILL, Q.M.C., U.S.A.
Constructing Quartermaster

Captain John R. Hill was commissioned on April 19th, 1918 and ordered to duty in the office of the Advisory Architect at Washington. He was then ordered to U. S. Army General Hospital No. 24 and since that date has been on duty at this station.

The transformation of the old Allegheny City Home buildings into the modern hospital that Parkview now is, is a testimony to the ability, energy and skill of Captain Hill as a Constructing Quartermaster. Not only has he acted in this capacity but in that of contractor as well. This alone has saved the Government about $20,000 which would otherwise have been laid out in doing the construction work at this post. Labor troubles have made the use of soldiers necessary, but never once, in spite of difficulties, has a piece of work failed to be completed on schedule time.

In civil life Captain Hill is a constructing and designing engineer with a large practice in New York City. He has built homes for W. K. Vanderbilt, Major Robert Bacon, Major Hitchcock, Mrs. F. C. Havemeyer, H. M. Harriman, Stanley Morcoman and Virginia Vanderbilt.

Now that the Captain is returning to civil life it is with sincere regret that his many friends at the Parkview Hospital say goodbye to this efficient officer and superb gentleman.

PERSHING STADIUM TO BE BUILT IN FRANCE

Huge Structure to Hold 62,000 Spectators at Inter-Allied Games in June

Paris (by A. P.)—Ground has been broken for "Pershing Stadium," where the great inter-allied games will be held in June. The stadium is to be situated at Joinville, near Paris, and will have seating accommodations for 22,000 persons and standing room for 40,000 more. The plans were drawn up by the Young Men's Christian Association, and the contract calls for the completion of the stadium within ninety days.

At the conclusion of the inter-allied games Gen. Pershing will present the amphitheater to the French Government as a permanent reminder of the American Army present in France. The contract was made jointly by the American and French armies and the Y. M. C. A., the French donating the field, which formerly was a French military training ground, and the Americans providing for the field, plumbing, wiring, stands and dressing rooms.

The structure will be of re-enforced concrete, completely surrounding the vast field, which has a 200-meter track straight away and a 500-meter elliptical running track. Within the running track there is room for an English rugby playing field, which is thirty yards longer than the American rugby field.—"Over the Top," Camp Taylor.

COURSE IN RADIO AND MORSE TELEGRAPHY OFFERED TO PATIENTS

In connection with the Reconstruction Department classes are being conducted in both Morse and Radio telegraphy.

The school is now permanently located in the east end of the East Building on the first floor. The present equipment includes several sets of instruments both for the Morse and Radio work. A complete sending and receiving radio set will be installed in the very near future.

First Lieut. Baggett and First Lieut. Robinson of the Signal Corps are in charge of the instruction and are anxious for all soldiers who are at all interested in either branch of telegraphy to come around and make yourselves at home and take advantage of the opportunities offered. It costs you nothing and at the same time gives you an opportunity to improve yourself during your stay in the hospital."

LARGE SUN PARLOR TO BE OPENED THIS WEEK

Work on the large and spacious porch on the second and third floors of the center building is nearing completion and will soon be open as a sun parlor for patients. The porch has been beautifully inclosed with quaint little windows and exquisitely furnished by the Pittsburgh Branch of the Emergency Aid of Pennsylvania. It will soon be formally opened to all patients at this hospital as a memorial to those men of Allegheny county who lost their lives in the great war.

'PORT OF MISSING MEN' JUSTIFIES EXISTENCE

Hospital Newspapers Prove Source of Satisfaction in Helping to Locate Lost Soldiers

The Port of Missing Men is justifying itself nobly, for in the last week many families and relatives have received later news of soldiers than that supplied through official channels, and the men themselves.

Through an inquiry to The Port of Missing Men, a mother in far off Castle Creek, Idaho, was made happy by finding out the present location of her son from whom she had not heard since October, 1918. Not only was a hospital paper able to assure this mother, who, to use her own words, did not know whether her son was "alive, dead or a prisoner," but was also able to tell her that instead of being a private he is now a Sergeant (first class) and at a training school studying for a commission. A hospital paper was also able to inform a Washington girl, sister of a soldier, of his present location and address. Previously, for many months, she had been writing to the wrong address and all of her letters had been returned, from which she inferred that he was not alive.

The Port of Missing Men is now in full swing in nearly all the twenty-eight hospital newspapers in Army General Hospitals covering states from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coast, and also the Ports of Embarkation. All inquiries received by any hospital paper are exchanged, and are thus seen by thousands of readers each week. The number of copies read in Washington, at the Ports of Embarkation, at New York and Newport News, total more than one hundred thousand. The scope of this column is increasing tremendously every week, and with this increase becoming a greater medium for the purpose for which it was established.

Overseas soldiers are requested to scan the columns and if they know anything further about the missing soldiers they are asked to communicate with the editor of "Asyouwere," who will promptly forward the news to anxious friends and relatives. Here are this week's names:

Information about Private Anter Snyder Lintner, Co. F., 110th U. S. Infantry, 28th Division, A. E. F. Was last seen about October 1st, 1918, going into Apremont, in search of his company, on his return from carrying a message. Address Mrs. Ella D. Lintner, 210 North Walnut street, Blairsville, Pa.

NEW "Y" HUT OPENED AT HOSPITAL MARCH 8

SOLDIERS WELCOME SPACIOUS BUILDING FOR REST AND RECREATION

On Saturday evening, March 8th, the new "Y" hut was opened in a blaze of splendor.

The building is 50x60 feet and the auditorium 36x60 feet. At the west end of the auditorium is a portable stage 12x22 feet, across the front of which is drawn a beautiful olive green denim curtain. The lighting effect of this stage is unusually good. To the right of the stage is a tea room operated by the Y. W. C. A. for the purpose of serving tea every afternoon to all persons at the Post. Connecting with this room is the writing and game room and private office. At the east end of the building is a recreation room containing a pool table and lounging chairs. On the second floor are located the sleeping quarters of the secretaries, bath and stock room.

The auditorium, which will seat about 400, is for the purpose of holding entertainments, moving picture shows and a gymnasium, where basket ball and other indoor games may be played.

The opening entertainment was given by the Pentapha club of Pittsburgh. There were 50 men in the cast, with six end men, who presented the Pentapha Follies of 1919, which was a good, clean, enjoyable show.

Secretary Carl A. Walter was very much gratified with the large attendance at the opening, which included the commanding officer and family, a number of the officers and their wives, nurses, patients and detachment men.

The object of the "Y" at this Post is to furnish good, clean entertainment for every person at the Post and to furnish a place where you can while away an hour or more a day in play or rest. Make the "Y" your home.

Mr. David Bissett, who was identified with the "Y" for a short time is once more in "Civics," having returned to his old position with the Crucible Steel Co. of Pittsburgh. However, Bissett likes the work and the bunch at the hospital so well that he has decided to come up and work in the evenings. Good for you, Bissett.

FARM WORK FOR DISABLED SOLDIERS

CONDUCTED FOR EDUCATIONAL PURPOSES

With the approach of Spring work will soon be begun on farms and gardens at army hospitals under the jurisdiction of the Educational Division. They are to be conducted for educational purposes by and for the soldier patients, and to provide fresh vegetables for the hospital menus.

Last season the General Hospital at Lakewood, N. J., prepared and cultivated a small farm and garden which proved very successful. The garden will be operated again this season, and a garden will also be established at the General Hospital at East Norfolk, Mass., among others.

From recent regulations of the Quartermaster General covering the cultivation of land and the selling of farm, garden, mineral and forestry products at army camps, cantonments and posts, it appeared that control of such farms and gardens would hereafter be under the jurisdiction of the quartermaster general, and some hospital authorities thought it might interfere with the cultivation of gardens this year. The opinion of the quartermaster general as to the status of the gardens was requested by the Surgeon General. The former official states that recent regulations charged the Salvage Division with the salvage and development of agricultural, mineral and forest land owned, purchased or leased for the army without interfering with authorized gardening and farming thereon. Gardens and farms already being, or which may hereafter be operated in connection with hospital and other institutions under the Surgeon General, are not to be included among salvage activities. It was not contemplated to vest in the salvage division jurisdiction over farming activities and the operation of post gardens.

The quarantine at the hospital has been lifted and visitors are again admitted as usual. Visiting hours, 2 to 4 P. M. daily.

PERMANENT INSURANCE POLICIES FOR SOLDIERS

WAR RISK BOARD TELLS HOW TO CONVERT INSURANCE

As the result of numerous inquiries and misunderstandings regarding the retention by a discharged soldier, sailor or marine of his wartime insurance policy with the government, the War Risk Insurance Bureau has issued a detailed explanation of the plan, together with a partial schedule of rates on each $1,000 of the policy retained by the discharged man.

The policies taken out by soldiers, sailors or marines may be converted at any time within five years after the man is discharged.

The War Risk Bureau's explanation follows:

Present certificates are one-year renewable term contracts, and may be continued as such for a period of five years only, from the declaration of peace.

At any time during this period of five years the term policies may be converted without medical examination into any of the following six forms: Ordinary life, 20-payment life, 30-payment life, 20-year endowment, 30-year endowment and endowment maturing at the age of 62. If the term policies are to be converted as above the conversion must take place during the five-year period mentioned.

These forms will be the only ones written and the insurance will be carried by the government at rates considerably lower than private companies.

The rates are net rates based upon the American experience table of mortality with interest of 3½ per cent., figured upon a monthly basis. All expenses of the bureau are paid by the government, thereby permitting the net rate. This means that the monthly net rate will average 15 per cent. below a similar rate in participating private companies.

Policies will contain a waiver of premium and total disability clause, making the policies payable at any time that the insured becomes totally and permanently disabled, regardless of his age.

No policy in a private company contains a similar clause running beyond the age of 65. An average rate of 8 per cent. would have to be charged for such a policy in private companies.

A few rates for government policies follow:

In comparing the above rates with those of private companies, an average of 18 per cent. of the premium should be added to private company annual rates, 10 per cent. on account of the monthly premium basis of government policies and 8 per cent. on account of government disability clause.

If an annual premium is paid to a private company and death occurs during the year, no return of premium is made. If an annual premium is paid under a government policy and death occurs all of the premium except current month is refunded.

It will, therefore, be noticed that the government rate under converted policies will average about 3 per cent. below the rates of participating private companies.

The low rate provided by the government and the special disability clause is granted only to soldiers and sailors holding regular term policies issued under the war risk act, the government assuming all expenses.

Converted policies will participate in dividends earned from any mortality or interest savings. These dividends may be used to reduce premiums or accumulate at compound interest.

All policies are non-taxable, contestable and non-assignable.

Cash values under converted policies are provided beginning at the end of the first year, being the full 3½ per cent. reserve values. Loans may be made up to 94 per cent. of the cash value. Participating, paid up and extended insurance is guaranteed in all converted contracts.

All policies are payable in event of death, only in 240 monthly installments. Endowment policies are payable in cash at maturity if desired.

A bill before congress extends the permitted class of beneficiaries, and provides for full payment to estates of no beneficiaries in permitted class are living when policy becomes a claim.

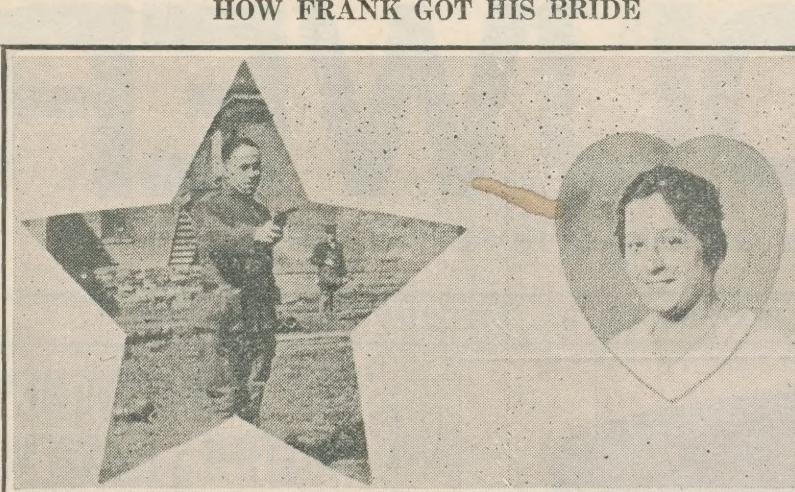

Policies may be reduced, but not increased.

Rates for converted policies are at age attained and no credit can be made for term premiums paid.

All premiums are due on the first day of each month and should be sent to Disbursing Clerk, Bureau of War Risk Insurance, Washington, D. C. Checks and money orders should be made payable to the treasurer of the United States.

A grace of one month is allowed in payment of premiums and liberal reinstatement provisions during period of two years from date of lapsation are contained in the policy.

Further information concerning conversion, including rates, blanks for making conversions, etc., may be

HOW FRANK GOT HIS BRIDE

GENERAL CUPID STARTS SPRING DRIVE

Our Corporal of the Guard Capitulates

While the beautiful strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin" sounded sweetly on the evening air, Corporal Frank M. McGee, of Philadelphia, and Miss Anna McClossey of Sharpsburg, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Chaplain M. J. Shroyer. The happy couple were attended by Lieutenant Warner and Nurse Nash. When asked by the Chaplain, "Do you take this woman, etc., etc.," Frank became quite excited, but was most emphatic when he replied, "Sure!" The Corporal later confessed that he did not know that Anna was really so much in love with him. However, we know better, for we know only by results.

At the close of the ceremony Corporal and Mrs. McGee departed amidst a heavy downpour of rice for a short "wedding furlough." The Corporal is to be congratulated on his happy choice and we join with the command in wishing him and his bride a long and joyful journey through life.

ANOTHER VICTIM

On the evening of March 5th Private Fred Jones and Miss Emma Glass of Pittsburgh pushed forth their boat into the mysterious waters of the matrimonial sea. Rev. McClellan said the words which enlisted Private Jones in the benedictine forces. We wish for him and her and them the happiest kind of a future.

Present indications are that our matrimonial casualty list will be augmented soon with the capitulation of ? Guess!

INSTRUCTOR IN AGRICULTURE ARRIVES AT HOSPITAL

The Educational Department has received a valuable addition in Lieutenant Charles A. Lodge of the Air Service, Aeronautic Division. Lieutenant Lodge comes here as instructor in agriculture. In civil life he was connected with the Department of Agriculture, Alberta, Canada, and is the owner of a large ranch in the West. Under his tutelage we expect to see the hospital land producing valuable crops this summer. All men interested in Agriculture are urged to see Lieutenant Lodge at once.

Do right and fear no man,

When In Need of Information at Home Ask 'The Red Cross'

Every returned soldier and his family will need information about his rights under the War Risk Insurance Law or the Civil Relief Act or other legislation or regulations for the benefit of soldiers and their relatives. You and your family will want to know how to keep your Government insurance from lapsing; how to file a claim of compensation if you have been injured in the service; what plans the Government is perfecting to return discharged soldiers to industry; how to apply for arrears of pay; how long the Government allowance to your family should continue, etc. It is not necessary for you to write to Washington to learn these things. Washington sends the latest information on these and many other points to your Home Service Section for the use of yourself and your family. Take your inquiries to the Red Cross, where they will be answered accurately and promptly and without charge.

ENLISTED PERSONNEL RECEIVE PROMOTIONS

By special order of the Commanding Officer the following promotions of enlisted men, quartermaster corps, this hospital, are announced, effective March 4th:

To be Sergeants: Private William Baumgart, Private Alva B. Brunn, Private Fred R. Burns.

In addition to the above, Private First Class R. C. Caldwell, of the Medical Department, has been advanced to the grade of Corporal.

EDUCATIONAL NOTES

There has arisen in some manner among the patients the impression which is entirely false that the courses offered by the educational department prove a hindrance to their release from the army. Perhaps the term "school" is partly to blame for the misconception. The idea of a formal institution where classes, even if they are not liked, must be attended, and where a course, once begun, must be carried through to completion, is wholly out of harmony with the aims of the educational department.

The entire sympathy of all concerned in education is with the soldier who wishes to reassume at the earliest possible time his position as an independent, self-confident civilian.

The educational department has been strengthened during the past week by the arrival of many new members. The Misses Marjorie Eleanor Brook and Katherine N. Mortimore, from Philadelphia; Elizabeth E. Naramore from Ossing, N. Y., and Miss Catherine R. Miller from Pittsburgh.

Mr. Fritz Heil from Oswego, N. Y., will have charge of wood work. Mr. J. H. Hixson of Cambridge, Ohio, takes charge of the academic branches and Mr. Horace G. Brubaker from Okolona, Ohio, will assist in this work.

The Pittsburgh Branch, Emergency Aid of Pennsylvania has appointed a Reconstruction Committee composed of Mrs. John W. Lawrence, chairman; Mrs. W. Harry Brown, Mrs. Eugene Meffler, Mrs. John C. Dilworth, Mrs. William Frew and Mrs. Simon Patterson. This committee is to co-operate with the Reconstruction Department of the hospital, in the furtherance of the reconstruction plans and ideals of the Surgeon General's Office, and to help generally in the re-education and rehabilitation of the men at this station.

The Educational Department has been the recipient during the past week, through the Red Cross, of the following articles for instructional purposes in its various classes; an eight-cylinder Peerless motor, a four-ton auto truck, two crippled pianos, and a goodly supply of lumber. The Educational Department takes this opportunity to thank the Red Cross for its kind co-operation.

Evening classes in English and other academic branches will start during the coming week for men of the Medical Detachment. This opportunity is offered by the Educational Department through the aid of the Reconstruction Committee of the Pittsburgh Branch, Emergency Aid of Pennsylvania, and its members. Men interested will receive information relative to these classes by applying to the Educational Department, East building.

During the past week a foot power scroll saw and a foot power lathe was loaned to the Educational Department by the Pittsburgh Branch of the Emergency Aid of Pennsylvania. This type of apparatus is especially adapted to the curative needs of the patients, giving that necessary curative exercise which is so essential to the re-establishment of function to disabled legs and feet.

COURSES IN FREEHAND DRAWING AND ENGRAVING OFFERED TO PATIENTS

The Department of Reconstruction through the courses in freehand drawing and engraving will afford an opportunity for the development of any talent in those arts which the soldier may have. It is undoubtedly true that from economic pressure many are forced to discontinue development of such abilities after leaving the public school. With their imaginations broadened and brightened by their experience in France there are perhaps many who will be attracted into the various phases of this work.

The course in free-hand drawing will include all varieties of art work. The landscape drawing will begin with pencil work and lead into oil painting as far as one's talents will lead him. There will also be fast sketch work, ink drawing, cartooning, charcoal life work, and poster work. So any desire to develop an ability in commercial art will be given free play.

In the course in engraving will be given steel engraving, soft metal work, silver and gold engraving, monnel work, soft and hardwood engraving, linoleum block-printing and hammer work. This work involves a rather extensive knowledge of metals, tools, and processes. The monnel work especially and etching on the harder metals almost demand special talent and experts in such are rare. Far from being a superficial putting, such activity may prove endless in its appeal. And to one truly interested it becomes a most absorbing hobby or vocation. Those who care for such work will surely be able to forget the war and all their troubles when they get into these courses. Both the free-hand drawing and the engraving will be under the direction of Mr. Frank Drew whose cartoons have been gracing the pages of "Asyouwere."

IN MEMORIAM

The Q. M. Detachment mourns the loss of Pvt. W. E. Underwood, who passed away March 7. Memorial services were held in the assembly room March 8 by Chaplain Schrover. Pvt. Underwood who was conscientious in the performance of his duties was a good "pal" and leaves a vacant spot in the hearts of his comrades that will be hard to fill. The remains were sent to his home in Seward, Pa.

George Franklin Quist was born near Langford, South Dakota, September 6, 1891. He entered the service at Minneapolis on May 15, 1918. He was transferred to Camp Dodge where he remained for two weeks, and then was sent to Pittsburgh. He was a member of the Aero Squadron, S.A.T.C. of Carnegie Tech. His service was ended on March 10, 1919. The many friends at Hospital 24 extend their sympathy to the father and mother who had the privilege of spending a few days at the last with their son. There the wicked cease from troubling.

And there the weary are at rest; There the prisoners are at ease together; They hear not the voice of the taskmaster. The small and the great are there, And the servant is free from his master.

COURSE IN DRAFTING OFFERED TO PATIENTS

The courses offered by the Drafting Department, while naturally appealing to men who intend to become draftsmen or engineers must not be thought of as useful to only those men who have such ends in view. On the contrary they offer something of value to every man who has been or expects to be connected with the mechanical field in any way.

Machinists, toolmakers, patternmakers, all know how important it is to be familiar with blue prints. To be able to read and understand any blueprint without hesitation means money in the pay envelope. And there is nothing mysterious about it. If you have ever thought you would like to know more about blueprint reading, come over and let us show you how easy it is to learn. A week or two will give you some pointers that will help you for the rest of your life.

The course in sheet-metal layout work should also be of interest to a great many men in this section of the country where so much of this work is done. There are many good practical sheet-metal workers in the trade who are handicapped because they are unable to lay out the patterns that are needed in their daily work. The course offered gives special attention to everyday applications of the fundamental principles involved in all layout work and should be of great value to the practical man in this line.

In order to take advantage of these courses it is not necessary to spend all of the day in the classroom. Two or three hours' work a day will begin to show results within a week.

Every man who attends receives individual attention and the work is planned to suit his own individual needs.

This is a real opportunity, men. Don't miss it.

"EACH A LITTLE HIGHER"

Said the private to the corporal, "What's the dope?" Said the corporal to the private, "Your a joke." Said the corporal to the sergeant, "Hows the day!" Said the sergeant to the corporal, "Go 'way and play." Said the sergeant to the topper, "What's the news?" Said the topper to the sergeant, "Go shine yer shoes."

Eight Thousand Enrolled In Educational Work

Educational work among wounded soldiers at army hospitals during the month of January is shown in a report of the Division of Physical Reconstruction of the Office of the Surgeon General. Educational departments were in operation at the following hospitals, an increase of seven over December: Walter Reed, D. C.; Letterman, San Francisco; Ft. Bayard, N. M.; Sam Houston, Texas; Ft. McHenry, Md.; Rahway, N. J.; Ft. McPherson, Ga.; Roland Park, Md.; Otisville, N. Y.; Lakewood, N. J.; Boston; Cape May, N. J.; New Haven; Marlinton, Pa.; Waynesville, N. C.; Oteen, N. C.; Whipple Barracks, Arizona; Denver; Ft. Des Moines, Iowa; Ft. Snelling, Minn.; Plattsburgh, N. Y.; Carlisle, Pa.; Lawrenceville, N. J.; Ft. Riley, Kans.; Camp Travis; Camp Upton, New York; Camp Custer, Mich.; Camp Devens, Mass., and Camp Jackson, S. C. Others are in process of organization.

Of 28,023 patients undergoing treatment in these hospitals over 8,000 or about 29 per cent were enrolled in some form of educational work, by reason of which 562 of the men were able to resume their old occupations. No one special type of work seems to predominate in any one of the hospitals, but in the tuberculosis hospitals, curative walks and out of door work have larger enrollments than in the other hospitals. Patients suffering with tuberculosis were more largely represented in the educational work than any other disability cases, the number being 1907, with orthopedic patients second, 1758 students.

Work in wards shows a large increase in enrollments, emphasizing the therapeutic value of this activity. The demand for reconstruction aides both in reconstruction and general hospitals shows the value of the handcrafts and academic subjects. In handcraft classes 5622 soldier patients were students, 2413 being engaged on work with textiles, such as knitting, weaving, etc. Nearly a thousand men were engaged in wood working, carving, toys, etc. In reed, cane and fiber work there were 897 students. The others were engaged in applied pattern and lettering; metal work, jewelry, etc.; leather, cardboard and binding, and on pottery and other plastic materials.

Academic work in the wards, which is given at the request of the patients, had an enrollment of 972, headed by 153 students of English, 132 in penmanship and 114 in telegraphy. There were also students in science, higher mathematics, French, Spanish, civics, music, commercial law, advertising, lip-reading and business courses.

There were also students taking technical courses, including electricity and machinery, typewriting and shorthand and gardening and crop study. The enrollment in these classes was 5,794.

Recreational courses, which include drill, physical culture, hospital service, etc., had 2,616 students enrolled.

New Trials for Soldiers When Civil Courts Have Rendered Adverse Judgment

If a court has rendered judgment against you by default, either while you were in the army or within thirty days after your discharge, the Civil Relief Act provides that you may still have your chance in court. You must apply to the court in person, or through an attorney, within ninety days after your discharge from the service.

If the court believes that being in the army prevented you from properly defending the action, and that you have a good defense, the court can open the judgment and give you a chance to defend the action. If legal proceedings were begun against you while you were in the army, or within sixty days after your discharge, and if you have been unable to defend the action properly by reason of military service, the court may, on your application, stay the execution of any judgment rendered against you, or prevent your property from being attached as a result of such judgment.

With this copy of the "Asyouwere" the publication of the paper is being taken over under the supervisor of the Educational Department as part of their work. It is hoped to continue the present success of the paper and the policies it has followed and at all times make it worthy of the mission it has before it. We believe that our paper compares favorably with the publications of other hospitals. It is our aim to increase its efficiency as time goes on. We learn by experience.

CREDIT WHERE CREDIT IS DUE

We see every day in the columns of the daily press long and ponderous articles, running often into three or four columns, in which are described the valorous deeds of officers and enlisted men. There is not a paper in the country which can show any issue of the last three or four months wherein such articles do not appear. In fact, many men returning from overseas service, have abused this form of publicity and have employed it as a means of personal advertisement. As much as this is to be regretted, it, nevertheless, remains that most of the stories of valor and heroism are true and serve a valuable purpose in enlightening our people on the effective work of our Army.

But it is apparent that a very valuable arm of the military service has been sadly neglected. Very rare are the mentions that are made in the public press of the heroic and untiring services rendered by the Army Nurses. The country seems to have forgotten them. Here and there we notice an item or small article concerning our nurses, but they are few and far between. When we consider that Our Girls, like Our Boys, left homes and relatives and careers to bear the heavy burdens of war service, we can appreciate that they, too, have made a priceless sacrifice. Few of us know that many of our nurses have lost their lives in France; fewer still are aware of the fact that many of them have received the Croix de Guerre and Distinguished Service Cross. Few, indeed, are the Americans who inquire at all about the services that they rendered.

"A few days ago," says the American Journal of Nursing, "We saw a group of our nurses come off a big transport, carrying their heavy suit cases, wraps and bags, go down the gang plank that looked to be at an angle of 45 degrees, and travel the whole length of the Hoboken pier, between rows of soldiers lined up on either side. What an impression to leave on the minds of these men, any one of whom, if not under military regulations, would have been glad to help carry the nurses' heavy luggage, out of simple courtesy. There was not the slightest attention paid to them by any of the official groups who were there to welcome the men, or by the public in general. It would look as if, because they have served the government as nurses, these women are considered not better than, but below the status of the ordinary woman."

The country can not be blind to these facts. It must give them recognition for they justly deserve it. Here in our Army Hospitals the nurses toiled sixteen to eighteen hours daily during the recent influenza epidemic. This Hospital sent nurses 40 to 50 miles away from it into communities where nursing services were unavailable. Those who profited directly from such services can not forget them, but the community as a whole does not give them proper recognition.

The country seems to be blind to their valorous services, their priceless sacrifices, and their loyal devotion to the national cause. It is time that the country give credit and recognition where they are justly due.

PHYSICAL TRAINING A PHASE OF RECONSTRUCTION

The great movement over the United States for physical education was only quickened by the war. It was slowly coming. Through the medium of the effects of army training the states of this country are rapidly adding this work to the curriculum of their schools and placing it on a proper and substantial basis. There is truly a great work to be done with the coming generations in this line.

Physical reconstruction has added and broadened the field of physical education. It bids to become a permanent part. All of the government reconstruction hospitals are taking up this work and the most gratifying reports are coming from all concerning the results being obtained.

This work takes up the proper exercise for men who are recuperating from the effects of wounds and sickness. All realize that the individual must have properly supervised and given exercise. It is intended to give the men the proper use of their physical self.

The surprising results of the physical training upon the individual soldier may be used as a basis of comparison for the results expected to be obtained. The men taking the training have been in hospitals and naturally have lost much of the value of their former training. Now they have an opportunity to regain this and go back to their homes fit to carry on the duty of life.

Everyone owes it to himself and his community to have as good a physique as possible. One feels and thinks better and has a better opportunity to appreciate the true values of life. We know that all envy the man with a well rounded physique. If the opportunity had been given us during our school days we all would have attained a certain amount of physical perfection.

There is to be a great demand for physical trainers, coaches and athletic directors. This opens up the vocational side of the training. It is an interesting field of occupation. To handle this kind of work the trainer must be a good all around man. Schools, clubs, associations, communities, etc. are seeking experts along these lines. And the individual that takes up community work must be more or less of a trained man along physical education lines. Thus the men while recuperating have an opportunity to prepare themselves for this new work.

The modified army setting up exercises, games of all character that stimulate the mind and muscles are included in the courses in the hospitals. This all tends towards the development of an individual better mentality, morally and physically. The Y. M. C. A.; K. of C.; Jewish Welfare and kindred organizations are all extending a helping hand to assist the movement along.

This work is being organized at the local hospital and will soon be under full swing. The minor details are now being worked out and the equipment is being provided for as quickly as possible.

Congressman Madden Encourages Disabled Soldiers

Out of an experience somewhat similar to that which many men returning from the war are undergoing by reason of physical incapacitation, Representative Martin B. Madden, of Chicago, extends to wounded soldiers in army hospitals a word of greeting conveying hope, courage and ultimate triumph over their present condition.

Mr. Madden, who has served fourteen years in the lower House of Congress, and who is recognized as one of its leaders, was injured when a boy, resulting in the amputation of his leg, but in his own words he has never "during my whole life felt handicapped because of that." By the use of a wooden leg, Mr. Madden has been able to do most anything save run, and by reason of his perseverance he has risen to a high place in public life.

The experiences of the Illinois Congressman should afford a worthy example to many soldiers now undergoing treatment for amputations and wounds received in battle. Mr. Madden has written for our hospital newspapers a greeting conveying encouragement to those who suffered injury in battle and assuring them that through perseverance and application to duty and strict adherence to those great moral laws, they are sure to be not only successful but influential members of society.

"It so happens that I was injured when a boy, resulting in the amputation of my leg, but I have never during my whole life felt handicapped because of that," said Representative Madden, in his word to the soldiers.

"I have been able to do what anybody else could do, except run, and I have had no serious inconvenience from injury, and it has in no wise prevented me from competing with my fellows."

I think physical disability frequently results in a determination on the part of the injured individual to succeed. He realizes the necessity perhaps more than the man who is well to devote himself to a useful occupation and to live a life that will command him to the confidence of his fellows.

"Happiness, good conduct, sobriety, frugality, integrity, morality and a determination to win are the fundamentals of success.

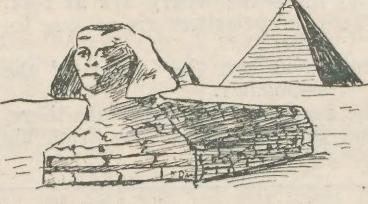

I write these words of encouragement to those who may have lost hope as the result of their service in the army, believing that if they will follow the suggestions herein set forth they are sure to be not only successful, but that they will become influential members of society.

REVEILLE COLUMN WAKES 'EM UP

By Bob Teed
From out the Pyramids:

Wouldn't the famous little Corp of Waterloo and Sedan or Field Marshall Ney grin at the plight of Prussia today in the throes of the Bolsheviks. And whiskers were cheaper those days too. What Napoleon could have done with a set of those Bulch whiskers if he only knew it.

Non-coms and others who throw stones shouldn't wear glass windows.

If you want a discharge, go to Russia, they continue to throw out bombs (bums) every day.

Say, can you tell me where the Registrars office is?

No, but Lute Pop-kid. He's in there most of the time since the new stenographer arrived.

Say, how can I get any information about the construction work going on around this hospital?

Why, just go over to Captain Hill, through Harry Woods and ask Mac-loud.

Messed up general orders or ten dining room commandments:

You will take charge of all gravy in view.

You will keep on the alert for any stray sausage that may fly your way.

You will report all calls for seconds.

You will leave the table only when satisfied.

You will not pass on to the next man any chicken, ice cream or pie.

You will talk to no one lest you lose out on the eats.

You will in case of fire grab everything in sight before leaving.

You will allow no one to get more pork chops than yourself.

You will bawl the Mess Sergeant and salute all ham, bacon, pork, or steak.

You will while grabbing challenge all persons hooking more prunes than yourself.

Lute Michell, Chief of Staff of the Chefs, will be the soup man after July 1st. He has on hand at the present time several samples of bean juice, and is experimenting on various subjects who stroll in from time to time. Hope he will be ready when the first comes. It's going to be a dry 4th.

Our Famous Clubs

Civilians probably are not wised up to the fact that we have organizations other than military within our own little precincts and a word about these will be appreciated.

The Guard House Club.

This being the veriest exclusive, we mention it first.

Membership.

Consists of the most notorious bandits who have distinguished themselves by committing various heinous crimes, such as absenting themselves from mess call for several days, thereby breaking a fasting record and covering themselves with glory and a guard.

The best crapshooters in the business are also members of this most exclusive set. Also renegades who habitually request the name of the guy who invented work and wish to be shown.

Membership is always solicited, but it is absolutely necessary for prospective member to pull one of the afore-mentioned stunts or its equivalent. Slackers will always find welcome in the door mat.

properly breaking all contents. Making all the noise possible when the guards are at the other end of the club-house or changing detail. Scheming out how to get the guy that got them and other athletic contests.

Once a member of this exclusive club one has but to learn to eat cigarettes to become a full fledged soldier.

Loony and Lovesick

Dear Colonel Nut:—I am muchly in love with a beautiful nurse, but she has flat feet. Do you think she eats too much goulash, and what do you think I had better do about it?

L. Louie.

Ans. Where there is so much of her on the ground at once I would contract to carry her shoes for her when you go out, otherwise she will contract pedalitis oldavithus. If she remains at Parkview she can continue to eat goulash. If she doesn't like this treatment tell her to marry another gob with flatfeet, thus evening the score.

Lines to J—Not Being Jane

All day with hand and brain I've wrought,

But now, at last, my task is through
And I have time for one sweet thought,

My heart turns longingly toward you.

Yes, I've been busy all the day,
But, that my duties now are o'er,
If to my wish I should give way,
How quickly would I seek your door!

And look into your face so sweet;
And yet, in truth I have to own
It's better that we should not meet,
And so tonight I am alone.

Yes, all alone I sit tonight,
The past in silence to review,
And though it brings me some delight,
My heart turns longingly toward you.

NURSES NOTES

Nurse Edna W. Walberg was called to her home at Braddock, Pa., last week on account of the sickness and death of her father. We extend to her our deepest sympathy in her bereavement.

Nurses Ricketts and Illing, patients in Isolation Ward are improving and we hope soon to have them back on duty.

Miss Kifer was called out of the Y. M. C. A. Hut to answer the phone, and she came back with a man. This is the record of efficiency in the phone service.

Miss Crane deserves a medal for her faithfulness. It is understood she turned down a very good proposal recently and her only excuse was that she was on duty and couldn't leave.

Wanted by a young nurse—A transfer from Ward 2A to the officers ward—Reference furnished. Youth guaranteed.

Miss Van Campen has been promoted to rank of 2nd Lieut. She has been given one gold bar on probation.

The other one will come later on if she proves worthy. It is supposed that Lieut Popkin has the other one.

HEARTLESS HECTOR, HERO OF THE HOSPITAL

The Great Detective Serial Starting in This Issue.

Get In on It

Publishers note. The author of this amazing Detective tale is very frank and introduces the characters from the first, excepting those connected with the hospital who unfortunately may be drawn into the startling narrative from time to time.

Author's note—Nursettes are good looking young ladies designing to become nurses.

CHAPTER I.

Unlike any other great detective serial, the author of this amazing, thrilling, blood-curdling mixture of love and adventure in a great hospital will unfold to you the wonderful and interesting characters with which we have to deal. We will take our hero first.

Heartless Hector, so named, not because as you may think, dear reader, he is heartless, no never! but because in his young 23 years he has broken as many nurses' hearts as his years and then some. Therefore, this cognomen is appropriate and fitting. Tall, distinguished looking, steel blue eyes, and little pink shell-like ears, beautiful silk wavy hair parted in the middle and down the back, his only deformities being bowlegs and a cauliflower nose, thus our wonderful hero was any time calculated to make the heart of any nurse sound pitty-pat louder than a trip hammer in a boiler factory, and make any head nurse or nursette turn green with envy to discover him in the company of any other nursette or nurse.

On the other hand, Desky C. Desmond our deep-eyed, very villainous bandit, so named because of his habitual hanging around desks looking for information, especially nurses desks, is all that a villainous chee-ld of crime could possible be. But as our readers will soon see, he was a man to be reckoned with, for his powers of recuperation are amazing. He is the toughest nut on t'n continents, universally known and hated on fifteen continents, and long ago doctors from everywhere and even the experts at Parkview have given up trying to kill him.

The "C" initial for his middle name, the author, with the aid of the great kitchen headquarters detective Burns and Seals stands for "Curses." Ha! Ha! So right away dear readers you have his number. Add to this information a squarheaded, cockeyed, knockkneed, flatfooted gob with a parrot beak and mule ears, and you have a fair description of this villain of all villains on the earth.

And a word of introduction for our beautiful heroine, Miss Lucretia Borgia McSwatt, the fairest, liliest, nursiest, kewpiest nursie that ever kewped or nursed dog or man.

Lucretia at an early age vamped from the town of Hookum, State of Coma, and after the manner of all beautiful dolls, vamped right onto the stage. She became tired of painting houses, however, and turned her attention to chiropody. She retired on the proceeds of this business for twelve years. We now see her emerge into the spotlight of fame at the age of 16 years, the most beautiful woman in the world, having taken 864 beauty prizes, and with motion picture producers bidding to star her in a thousand features, and everybody clamoring for her hand. (O her hospitals take notice).

Lucretia emerged because of the great war. She became a nurse. Not because her knowledge of chiropody stood her in good stead. No, because, her hero and our hero, Hector, had joined the Parkview Hospital No. 24 Aviation and Motor Transport Corps. Yes, she resigned herself to this fact, that he might become a corps in the event of war, and promptly joined the squadron herself.

By this time the reader doubtless suspects that Heartless Hector and Lucretia Borgia McSwatt were in love. They were! We unhesitatingly admit it although they don't. Miss McSwatt always blushes to the roots of her little pink toes when gently chided about it, and Hector says, "Me? Why me? Never!" But we have seen them often stroll down the Freeport road, hand in hand, finger in finger, gazing for the stars on a starless night, and whispering sweet promises each to other. At the advent of the first episode in this hair-raising tale, Lucy and Hec, (we will now become more familiar with our stars) were doing just this—that is, walking down or up the Freeport road.

Peacefulness and snow reigned over the hospital. Above in the moonlit shadows Desky Desmond, the devil, roamed around in an aeroplane. Suddenly he spied Lucy and Hec. Ha! Ha! he mused, if I throw a lighted cigar a few feet away, Hec will jump to pick up same. When he gets away from Lucretia I will drop a ten ton bomb on his noddle. Then I will swoop down, pick her up and off! We will be married before midnight.

Desky was as quicn as his word. He threw the lighted stogie far out into the

Medical Woofs

A common scene in the Mess Hall: Private First Class Axelrod with knife and fork in one hand, cup in the other, a mouthful of "grub" and before him Huxley's "Physical Basis of Life," Havelock Ellis' "The Task of Social Hygiene" or such other light reading matter.

Somebody asked, "How many times has the Corporal of the Guard been engaged to be married and no wife yet?" Evidently that person was absent last week. She has arrived and capitulated.

Oh, where and why did Sgt. Rosso's mustache disappear?

Oh, Surgeon Sir, this bird explained I'm sick and wounded, maybe maimed; My head it aches, my feet are sore, I just feel rotten o'er and o'er. In this case the surgeon said, You're quite, if not completely dead; I'll do my very best, I will, Here, take this nice cathartic pill; Your tongue now looks a trifle sooty And just for luck, I'll mark you duty. From the Medical Pickwick.

I was walking through a small town in California, when I met a young Lieutenant of Engineers and while we were talking a native came up and showed his knowledge of things military as follows: "I see you are an officer of the army"—to the engineer officer—"and that you are a doctor." The officer responded, "Yes, but how did you know I was a doctor?" Because, looking at the castle on your collar I see the gates to the cemetery."—Sgt. Kauffman.

While stationed at Fort Apache, Arizona, the Ninth Cavalry was ordered there for temporary duty one summer. Now the Coons are well known for their superstition as the following shows:

The conversation was on the subject of ghosts. A few taking each side and the argument advanced, became loud and interesting, finally a bet of twenty-five dollars was made to be decided as follows: On a certain moonlight night the party who bet there was no ghosts was to fish from a certain tree which leaned well out over the water of the river where the said ghost always appeared. The party consisted of two men who made the bet and two others made the rip. The Negro on the negative side prepared his hook and line, crawled out on the tree and commenced to fish. After an hour of watchful waiting the interested man on the bank said "Who is that on the tree with you Jackson? There is no one on his tree with me! There sure is a man on that tree with you! Say Washington how many people are there on this tree? Two. No there hain't! and Jackson dropped off in the water."

Sgt. Hayes to Postmaster—Do you sell stamps here.

Postmaster—No this is a butcher shop.

Salamone is a dandy K. P. and is assigned to N.C.O. tables, but he has sworn vengeance on the Top Sergeant. Sunday he gave Hayes six helpings of ice cream and when he went up stairs to read the bulletin board, and read "The following members of this detachment are restricted to the post for six days" and saw his name on the list, explained "It ver good I no give Top ten ice cream."

Kauffman said that the bald-headed man had an advantage, there is no danger of his cutting his eye with the comb while making his toilet, as happened to the Austin man when his hand slipped.

Recent Chances:

Liever on ten days furlough; Buskirk is Sergeant of the Guard; Born assistant Officer of the Day; and all feel happy.

Hardesty returned from the Hospital back to duty in the Sergeants Major's office. James Smith has a new assignment in the Sergeants Major's office, on officers' papers.

Duskey has returned to his regular job as the Adjutant's orderly. Heifer, transferred from the filing desk to the Sergeant of the Guard. Gregg is doing straight duty under the police sergeant.

Sgt. Clarke would like to know the specific gravity of the K. L.

Isadore wants to know what the night nurse considers profane language.

"Blondy" Landis is glad he knows where his appendix was.

Some of the follows of 2B want to know if "The Bunch" in 8A still have their "Directors" meeting.

The "Hornets Nest" in Unison—We want Smith back.

Samuel Westley is back from his vacation and from what he says he has broken lots of young ladies hearts. This boy has done his bit to win the war. He was in the Air Service in London where he consumed lots of hot air.

Miss Rider, head nurse—The Ace of our ward has a smile on her face—the reason—We are quarantined.

G. W. Ross is practicing and using lots of paper. He is instructor in penmanship in the reconstruction school.

To hear Gallagher talk now since he had his teeth all pulled out would make you laugh. You don't have to go down to a show, he is becoming an expert mimic.

Poor Ison—His girl called him up six times every day. (What does she care for expenses?)

Disappeared—One large picture out of Room No. 1, Ward 8B. The guilty party is known. He wears a triangle on his sleeve. A large reward when it is returned to Ward-Master, Sgt. Bogas.

Addis received good news; he will be discharged in about eight months. I wish I was lucky like him.

Tommy O'Hara, the "Grandpa" of the ward, is only 59 years old and is going to adopt Sgt. Evans; he is a nice little boy.

Egg-nogs have become rather important in 4A since Miss Kifer insists upon sweetening them with salt. Unpopular, we should say!

Red Cross Activities

The entertainment Monday night given under the auspices of Frank Maggio of the Maggio Orchestra, was one of the most enjoyable yet seen at the Hospital. The program was a variety of vocal and instrumental numbers put on by a bunch of people who were full of pep. The Jazz number by Messrs. Al. Epstein, violinist and R. Harrison, pianist, were great. The popular songs rendered by the Elinor Sisters and the snappy numbers by Misses Eva and Rosa Manghan brought forth loud applause. The dancing by Miss Helen Withem and Billy McCoy made even the follows in wheel chairs shake a leg. How could anyone keep still with such graceful dancing and wonderful music.

Tuesday was the banner day of the week. The Pittsburgh Leader had thirtyfive Overseas boys to one of the theaters for a matinee and after enjoying a good show they went to Sewickley as the guest of the Locanous Club of Sewickley. Who wouldn't want to be a soldier and get such a feed?

Everything from soup to nuts, turkey and all. The basketball game which followed surely proved to be a wonderful treat. After that a dance and games for all. The best way to describe this affair is just to say it was one grand surprise after another. To top off the evening, the ladies furnished automobiles to get the boys back. The noise the fellows made was proof of their enjoyment.

The First Presbyterian Church of Wilkinsburg entertained ten boys at an affair which was thoroughly enjoyed.

Wednesday afternoon, Miss Foster entertained two men at the Nixon theater and dinner at her home.

During the afternoon, Mr. Reed gave several Mandolin solos through the wards that were enjoyed by all the boys. His Jazz numbers were among the best heard here yet.

The Emergency Aide of Pittsburgh gave all connected with the Hospital quite a treat by sending ice cream for the evening mess. This organization has been doing this for several weeks. We're all for the Emergency Aide.

Watch for the big film story of what the operators of Local 171, M. P. O. and what the moving picture exchanges are going to do for the boys at Parkview

IN NEXT WEEK'S ISSUE

Yes, Buxbaum, we knew that you and Levinson are veterans of 98 and McAleer with sons in France. But that is telling the story—wait and read it.

Jewish Welfare Board

Attention of soldiers of the Jewish faith is again directed to Circular No. 92 of the War Department and circular letter of the Adjutant General's office providing for a two-day furlough for the Passover holidays and for the distribution of "matzos" by the Jewish Welfare Board. All concerned are urged to see Sergeant Melnick at once.

Purim Festival will be celebrated Sunday morning, March 16, in the Assembly Hall, Center Building. Be sure to be present.

On Thursday evening, March 13, the Board brought again to the Hospital its famous boxing bouts. "Buck" Crouse and Harry Greb staged a bout of "pep" and action that kept everybody on a continuous "go" of yelling and cheering. Jimmy Perry and Al Martin put up a "classy" little fight, while "Kid" Stenger and Young Bennett showed a clever knowledge of the game. The "Y" Hut, in which the bouts were staged through the courtesy of Mr. Walter, was filled to capacity and echoed and re-echoed with the cheers of those present. The entire audience had a very enjoyable time and feel very grateful to Mr. L. S. Linn, President of the Board, and to the boxers for their willingness to come here.

K. OF C.

Through the kindness of Mr. Walters of the "Y" the new hut of the Y. M. C. A. will be available for Catholic services on Sunday mornings and therefore, Mass will be celebrated there instead of the assembly room as heretofore. Mass will be read at the usual time, 8 A. M.

Work on the K. of C. hut will be pushed rapidly from now on and the contractor promises to have it ready for occupancy about the first of April.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Secretary Walter wishes to publicly apologize to all his friends at the Post for the disappointment on Tuesday evening. The arrangements for having the Jesters Club here at that time were made on Monday morning and their manager assured him they would positively entertain on Tuesday evening. It developed later that it was impossible to get them together on such short notice and the failure of someone in charge to notify Mr. Walter caused this disappointment. We trust that this will never occur again.

The Groans of the Nation

The Italian, when in pain he cries, "Oh Dio Mio—softly sighs;

A German, when he's sick or cut, Will groan "Ach himmel!—lieber Gott!"

And when a Frenchman is in pain, Then "Oh, la la," is his refrain.

In Yiddish they do moan and cry, "Oi, Oi, Gewalt,—es tut mir weh!"

And so each nation has its groan In its own style and special tone.

In English, too, we groan and yell; For the love of Mike—that hurts like hell!

Our new made sergeants are too "dern" chesty. It is reported that they wont even walk to the mess hall with a buck since they sewed that little piece of cloth on their right sleeve.

Officers' Column

Spring Outbursts From the Officers' Ward

There is Captain Alexander with his broad grin, Who never budged when they watered his gin.

WORK OF HOME SERVICE
AT ARMY HOSPITALSA Message From Mrs. Catharine
M. Hoyt, "Parkview Mother"

I have been engaged for the last twelve years in social work, but in all my experiences I have not seen a better or more worthy field of service than that of the Home Service of the American Red Cross. That is why on February 1st I was delighted when I was offered the position of Associate Field Director in charge of this work at this hospital. Many people are ignorant of the kind of work the Home Service is accomplishing, so I will outline it as briefly as possible.

The first and in fact the most important work is that of supplying the individual needs of the boys. If a boy needs anything from a tooth-brush to a heart-to-heart talk about his future or his insurance, allotment or Liberty Bond, or his family troubles, he comes to the Home Service and everything possible is done to grant his wishes and ease his mind. There are requests which go from toilet articles to instructors of musical instruments and from financial troubles to spiritual aid and guidance. Here I might say that in this hospital wonderful work along the spiritual line is being done by the Chaplain. There are boys who are filled with anxiety as to the welfare of their families from whom they have not heard or families who are anxious over the boys who are slow in writing home. There are those who search for missing brothers, husbands, fathers or sweethearts and who find what they are looking for through the endeavors of the Home Service. There are cases of humor and cases that are pathetic, but the tooth-brush in its place is just as readily granted as is the result of a serious operation to a very anxious parent hundreds of miles away. Arrangements are made whenever possible for the board and lodging of parents, wives and sweethearts of those boys who are seriously ill or who are unable to be about because of the nature of their wounds. All visitors are treated with every courtesy possible and taken by orderlies through the hospital or to whom they desire to see. There is happiness and there is sorrow in the work. The marriage of one man is arranged or perhaps the funeral of another. The congratulations are extended to the first while care and sympathy are given to those who have lost their loved ones. In all this work, however hard we may try, it would be impossible to succeed to any extent whatever, if it were not for the wonderful co-operation of the military authorities, whose whole aim is to make the boy well, happy and contented and see that he receives the best the government, the Red Cross and yes, in fact, the best the country can grant, which they owe to him who has given his best for that country.

QUARTERMASTER MEN
RESCUE BODY FROM RIVER

All the heroes are not decorated. Last Saturday evening while strolling over the Federal St. bridge, Pvts. Young and Coogman noticed what appeared to be the body of a man floating down the river. Fearlessly they sprang to the rescue. After ascertaining that they were correct in their conjecture they held a council of war and decided that the next step was to drag the poor unfortunate out. This they proceeded to do and then recognizing the opportunity to put into practice some of the many things they had learned of first aid, they hopped to it. After about forty-five minutes their efforts were rewarded and the man was saved. When interviewed by the representative of "ASYOUWERE" Private Young stated that he would be satisfied with nothing less than the Croix de Guerre.

When the incident was written up in the city newspapers these men were not given credit for the work. The police claimed all.

BONUS OF $60 TO DISCHARGED SOLDIERS

The payment of a bonus of $60 to officers, soldiers, field clerks and nurses of the army upon honorable separation from active service by discharge, resignation or otherwise, has been authorized by Congress, in the form of an amendment to the six billion dollar revenue bill approved and made a law by the President's signature on February 24. It was a compromise on several bills introduced to give extra compensation to soldiers on to the heirs or representatives of any soldiers who may have died while in the service.

As men hereafter are separated from the service the bonus will be paid on their final roll or voucher. The million or more men and women who have been separated from the service are required to communicate with the Zone Finance Officer, Lemon Building, Washington, D. C., stating their service since April 6, 1919, the date of their discharge, their present address to which the bonus check is to be sent, and enclose their certificate of discharge, not a copy thereof, or military order for discharge or both, if both were issued to them. The certificate of discharge will be returned to the soldier with his bonus check. The payments are being made in the order in which requests therefore are being received, and while it will take some time to make all payments, claimants should exercise patience as all will be paid in due time.

Q.-M. Quimms

Lost, strayed or stolen—Eight horses and two escort wagons. Any one having knowledge of their whereabouts will please report to Sgt. Sam'l Friedman. While nothing has been said about a reward, it is hinted that the "Sarge" is more than anxious to know where "them horses are."

Have you noticed the changed appearance of Cpl. Ague? The committee appointed to investigate this matter reports that this change is caused by his having parted with his hirsute adornment. It must have been a sad blow.

Why not hang a lantern on the O. D. so the "Top Kick" can find him at Reveille.

Strange, isn't it? Sgt. Friedman is the last man to give you anything but is always among the first to have anything given him, especially on pay day.

We have the report, from reliable parties, that Sgt. Chesney stayed in Monday evening.

Will some one please tell Pvt. Riccio the difference between night and day? Since he has been marked "Quarters" he persists in sleeping all day and talking all night. This in itself is not so bad, but he insists on having someone converse with him.

NEW VICTORY POSTAGE
STAMPS ARE ISSUED

The Postoffice Department has announced the issue of a new victory three-cent postage stamp, to commemorate the successful conclusion of the war. The stamps will be on sale shortly throughout the country but due to the limited supply which is not large enough to replace the regular three-cent issue, postmasters will sell victory stamps only on request.

The new stamp bears the figure of Liberty Victorious, helmeted and with a sword in one hand and scales in the other. The whole design appears upon a shaded panel, with American, British, French, Belgian and Italian flags draped for the background. In size it compares with other special stamps, and is wider and shorter than the ordinary stamps.

PRIVATE J. LESTER LEE
RETURNS TO HOSPITAL

The men of the "old guards" of the Medical Detachment who were on the post during the period of construction of the Hospital, have certainly missed Private J. Lester Lee during his enforced absence due to serious illness. During that period when facilities for treatment were not entirely complete Lee was taken ill and had to be transferred to another hospital where he was given special treatment. He is now on his way to complete recovery and is enjoying a furlough at his home in Philadelphia. The men here at the hospital congratulate Lee on his recovery, send him their best wishes, and await his return to make new acquaintances among those here now.
